

LOST LIVES IN CONVENT FIRE!

One Nun, Fourteen Children and Four Old Women.

PERISH IN FLAMES

Cyclonic Storm in Philadelphia and Many Injured—Row of Houses is Wrecked.

HUNS DRUGGED, SAVINGS STOLEN.

Montreal, April 26.—The little village of St. Genevieve was mourning Friday night over the loss of fourteen lives in a fire which destroyed the convent of St. Anne early Friday. One nun, nine children ranging from ten to eighteen years and four old women perished in the flames. Two nuns were so severely burned that it is feared they will die. Sister Marie Adjeur gave up her life, and Sister Marie Theresa and Marie Robertine were perhaps fatally burned in their efforts to save the lives of the children and helpless old women in their charge.

There is no organized fire protection in the village. The fire, which started at an early hour in the morning, was beyond control by the time the sleeping people could be aroused. A bucket brigade was formed, but the efforts to check the flames were futile and the structure was reduced to ashes. Sisters Marie Theresa and Marie Robertine were rescued with difficulty from the hallway where they had fallen, overcome by smoke and flame.

Philadelphia, April 26.—A wind storm of cyclonic velocity swept over Philadelphia and vicinity late Friday afternoon doing considerable damage in many parts of the city and suburbs. During the few minutes the storm lasted one woman was fatally injured and probably a score of other persons were hurt. The wind was accompanied by a heavy rain. In all parts of the city roofs of houses were blown off and walls blown down.

A row of houses in course of erection in the northeastern section of the city was completely wrecked. The woman who was fatally injured was Mrs. Margaret Long, aged 30 years. She was struck by a falling fence, breaking her back, three ribs and an arm. Her two-year-old child, who was with her, escaped injury.

Reports from outlying towns in this state and New Jersey show that the storm did much damage, principally in unroofing buildings. Several houses in Palmyra, N. J., were unroofed and three persons injured. None, however, was seriously hurt.

Allentown, April 26.—Twenty Hungarian laborers were chloroformed Thursday night in a boarding house at Ormrod, near this place, and robbed of their money, the amount stolen. It is said, being more than $3,000. The police suspect John Temko of the robbery. He is missing and was traced to a railroad station several miles from here where he purchased a ticket for New York. Temko formerly worked in the cement mills in this section and last summer went to Hungary.

Thursday he appeared at Ormrod accompanied by a dozen Huns who sought employment. Thursday night Temko gave a party at a boarding house, all of his guests is said to have drunk freely of liquor furnished by their host. When they awoke all of them were ill and medical aid was summoned, who said they had been chloroformed. Trunks and bureau drawers had been pried open and the men who kept their money under their pillows were robbed. The victims of the robbery claim to have lost amounts varying from $30 to $300.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, a native of Centre County, died Sunday April 16, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Summers in Philadelphia. She was the widow of Charles Stewart and for many years resided in Bellefonte. She was a daughter of Dr. Walton Bayard and his wife, Susan Bayard. She was also a sister of the late Col. George A. Bayard, of this place. She is survived by nine children.

The funeral took place on Tuesday April 18. Interment in Brooklyn N. Y.

EASTER IN JAIL.

Religious Services Conducted by Rev. Crittenden—A Talk With Green and Dillen.

On Sunday afternoon at 4:30 a reporter for the Republican visited the Centre County jail and listened to the religious services held by Missioner R. Crittenden and later talked with Ira Green and William Dillen, the two young men condemned to die on May 9th for the murder of Turnkey Jerry Condo.

One could not help but be deeply impressed by what he saw and heard inside that somber jail on this beautiful Easter Sunday, the fairest Easter Sunday Bellefonte has had in years. Outside all was joy and gladness and while the services of Missioner Crittenden were bright and cheerful yet you could not help feeling sad when you thought that in adjoining cells there were two stalwart young men, just at the threshold of life, who were spending the last Easter Sunday they would ever enjoy in this world.

Those who gathered on the upper landing in front of the woman's department, where Green and Dillen are confined, were Rev. Crittenden, C. C. Shuey, J. P. Smith, John Bullock, Jas. R. Hughes, Rev. Long and several newspaper men. All the prisoners in the jail took an active interest and many joined in the singing. There was no preaching and no praying except the Lord's Prayer which Rev. Crittenden said near the close of the service. Such familiar hymns as "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," "Joy to the World, the Lord is come," "Nearer My God to Thee," "What a Friend We have in Jesus," "I've Found a Friend, Oh Such a Friend," "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms," "Jesus is Calling Today," were sung, closing with the Doxology.

It was noticed that Dillen joined earnestly in the singing and both Green and Dillen took a great interest and seemed to enjoy the meeting. After the meeting the visitors were allowed to shake hands with the prisoners and converse with them.

To the reporter Dillen talked very pleasantly and Green was in a happy mood but nothing was said about their approaching execution. Dillen impressed the reporter as feeling his position very keenly although he was making a brave effort to appear at ease. He has made his peace with God and has for his spiritual adviser, Rev. W. B. Cox, of the Evangelical church of this place. He does not talk very much but sets and meditates and spends his time smoking and reading.

Green talked very freely with the reporter and laughed and joked. He inquired about what was going on in town. He said that he ate seven eggs for his Easter breakfast. He spoke very kindly of his aged grandfather who was buried the same day at Milesburg, but he would not want to live to be that old he said although his grandfather could do a good day's work up until a short time before his death. His grandfather was up to see him only last Monday.

Green and Dillen are located in what is called the Female quarter. Their cells face each other across a corridor. In this corridor a watchman is stationed night and day. This is the death watch and the condemned men will never be left alone, their every move is watched by the guard. The day watchman is John Trafford and the night watchman is George Everheart. The prisoners, however, have every comfort that the law allows them and they speak very kindly of the treatment they receive.

Both men were shaved on Sunday morning and they appeared neat and clean and were well dressed.

Sheriff Taylor feels very keenly the position he is placed in and does not relish the task before him, but will do his duty and is already planning for the execution. The old gallows which had been stored away since the execution of Hopkins and Andrews in 1891 has been examined but it is believed the parts are not all there and a new gallows will probably have to be erected. It will stand in the southeast corner of the jail yard. Sheriff Taylor will soon arrange for the execution and then the last act in the terrible drama which began with the tragic jail delivery last July will rapidly approach.

F. G. BIGELOW A DEFAULTER

One of the Northwest's Most Prominent Financiers.

LOST NEARLY $1,500,000

Was President of the First National Bank of Milwaukee for Many Years—Confessed to Directors.

HE WAS RELEASED ON BAIL.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 26.—Frank G. Bigelow, president of the First National Bank of Milwaukee, was embezzlement of over $1,000,000 of the bank's fund. The arrest of Mr. Bigelow followed his confession to the board of directors of the bank that he was a defaulter to the extent of $1,450,000. Following Mr. Bigelow's confession he was relieved from the presidency of the bank and the facts in the case were laid before the federal authorities. The complaint was sworn to by United States District Attorney Butterfield. The charges are that Bigelow, as president of the First National, embezzled a sum exceeding $1,000,000. A complaint and a warrant identical with those in Bigelow's case, were made out for Henry Golt, assistant cashier of the bank, but Golt could not be found. President Bigelow was taken before United States Commissioner Bloodgood. Bail was fixed at $25,000 and Bigelow was released to appear before the federal grand jury. Bigelow's confession was made at the meeting of the board of directors Saturday evening. In addressing his fellow directors President Bigelow said he had a painful mistake to make a confession that he had misdirected the funds of the bank and that an examination of his books would show that he was indebted to the bank for more than $1,450,000. This money, he said, had been lost in speculation in stocks. Not a dollar of it could be recovered and the only sum he could offer toward compensation to the bank was personal securities valued at $300,000.

Mr. Bigelow had been regarded among the foremost financiers of the northwest. He was associated with the largest financial interests for years, and his connection with trust companies, manufacturing corporations, real estate deals and other similar industries, numbered scores. He was honored a year ago by election to the presidency of the American Bankers' association.

Funds were at once provided by the directors of the bank to protect depositors against loss and save the bank from a stampede. More than a million dollars was guaranteed to the bank by various stockholders. It is not thought that complications with creditors of the bank will follow.

At the meeting of directors Bigelow was relieved from the presidency of the bank and the case was referred to the federal officers. When the federal marshal called at the Bigelow home to serve the warrant the former bank president was in the library with his wife. Mrs. Bigelow refused to withdraw and the warrant was read in her presence.

The aggregate wealth of the bank approximates $20,000,000.

Officers of the bank are preparing for any possible run today.

Money is on the way from New York to strengthen the resources of the bank, and the directors expect to be able to meet all demands promptly. They assert that the bank has not been impaired by the Bigelow defalcation.

Bigelow once was personally rated as a millionaire and this fortune he lost as well as the sum taken from the bank. He has a magnificent home in Astor street, and his family is prominent socially in Milwaukee. Bigelow is a member of several clubs. He has been a generous donor to charity and has been a favorite with all classes.

—W. S. Love died at the home of his sisters, the Misses Love homestead at Nesumont, a mile east of Tyrone, at thirty-five minutes past six o'clock Saturday April 22. He had been a sufferer for more than a year from bright's disease of the kidneys. He was aged 58 years, 10 months and 11 days.

APRIL COURT.

A Full and Complete Report By W. Harrison Walker Esq.

The regular April term of court commenced Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with Hon. Ellis L. Orvis, president judge on the bench. Prothonotary Kimport and Register Archey were in their respective places, Gilbert Burrows Esq., the official court reporter, arrived in Bellefonte on the 9 o'clock train.

The morning session was taken up by the presentations of motions and petitions by the several members of the Bar. A committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect on the sudden death of Hon. J. Wesley Gephart reported.

The following resolution was adopted:

John Wesley Gephart, the son of Hon. J. P. and Mrs. Mary Swartz Gephart, was born at Millheim, this county, on May 25th, 1853. There, of course, the elementary part of his education was, in a measure at least, acquired. Upon the election of his father, Hon. J. P. Gephart, to the office of Register and Recorder in the fall of 1863, he came with the family to Bellefonte where, ever after, was his home. His education was continued in the schools of the borough and still later at the Academy in this place, and with the preparation there obtained he entered Princeton College in the fall of 1870 and graduated from the same institution in June, 1874. He was noted during the years he was at college, as he was both before and afterwards, for his energy, ability and industry. It was not of necessity, but purely from love of work and a desire to stand alone rather than be dependent on any one, or to ask aid from those who were able and willing to give, that led him to work his way through college by making use of his knowledge as a printer, an art acquired by the use of odd and spare hours, which were at his command for such recreation as he might choose to enjoy. His years at college, were also marked by his high standing in all his studies. At least one, an historical prize of $250 was won by him during his college course.

Upon his return from college he commenced the study of law in the office of Gen'l now James A. Beaver, and was admitted to the bar in this county December, 1876, and was immediately taken into partnership with his preceptor, under the firm name of Beaver & Gephart. The senior member of this firm being much in politics and later elected Governor of the Commonwealth, threw a very large and lucrative practice almost entirely upon Mr. Gephart. It is only just to say that no client, interest or policy of law suffered in this. As a lawyer he was quick, tactful, resourceful and remarkably successful. He rapidly became familiar with all the machinery of practice as well as with the law as contained in the text books and the decisions of the courts.

To the practice of his profession he devoted all his time, with much success until about 1890 or 1891, when he became connected with the Valentine Iron works, and very rapidly developed into one of the most competent, progressive, energetic and successful business men known to this community. In November, 1893, he withdrew from the law firm of Beaver, Gephart & Dale, which had been in existence since 1886, and then also gave up the active practice of his profession, which he adorned with so much energy, fidelity and ability and graced with so much learning, that he might give all his attention and energy to the great business enterprises which he had undertaken.

For years the community had been seeking for additional railroad facilities, when others had failed to get the facilities he desired, he arose to the occasion and compelled, by the force of his character, the restlessness of his disposition and determination, the building of some railroad conveniences. Whether they have proved all that he, or the community hoped or desire we do not know, but to him and him alone is this community and its business interests indebted for whatever advantages have been, or may hereafter be realized from the additional railroad connections we now enjoy. He was not discouraged by misfortune, failure caused by the stress of business depression only seemed to stimulate his energies and cause renewed and greater determination to accomplish his purpose.

With the revival of business in 1899 the Valentine Iron company was reorganized and the furnace put into operation, the Bellefonte Furnace leased, railroad connections made and the plant also put into operation.

In all these enterprises Mr. Gephart displayed a wonderful facility to organize, gain the confidence and help of men with capital to aid in the various enterprises in which he was engaged and which enabled him to carry through the purpose so dear to his heart.

As a member of the bar he deservedly stood high both as counselor and advocate. An eloquent and forceful speaker, a keen and sagacious lawyer, he had at the time of his retirement from active practice acquired a reputation that placed him in the front rank of the profession in Central Pennsylvania. In every walk of life he was always to be found on the side of right in all questions and in all movements tending to the betterment of mankind.

Automobile Accident in New York on Easter Sunday—One Man Was Killed as a Result.

OTHER IMPORTANT NEWS OF THE DAY

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 24.—Joseph Jefferson, the eminent actor, died at this home, "The Reef," at Palm Beach, at 6:15 o'clock Sunday evening. The end came after a day of unconsciousness and after a heroic struggle of days which had exhausted his vitality. At his death bed were his wife, his sons, Charles B. and Frank Jefferson, his nurse, Miss Mabel Bingham, Dr. E. B. Potter and his faithful servant, Carl Kettler.

The end was not a surprise to his family. Ever since his last sinking spell, which came after a rally on Thursday morning and which was followed by an apparent improvement until Friday, the family has been waiting for the end. Mr. Jefferson's condition Saturday night grew steadily worse and the family, who had retired, were summoned from their beds and Dr. Potter was called. The patient's condition continued to grow worse all day and the brief bulletins from the bedside contained no words of encouragement.

The sickness of Mr. Jefferson which ended in his death was contracted, it is believed, while on his recent visit to his son, Chas. B. Jefferson, Hobe Sound, a few miles above Palm Beach, where he went to meet his friend, former President Cleveland. It is believed that from a slight indisposition in his eating there he suffered an attack of indigestion. Since his return to his home this condition grew steadily worse, with slight rallies until the end.

The body of Mr. Jefferson will be taken to Buzzard's Bay on a special train, leaving here this evening, accompanied by all the members of his family who are here. It will reach New York Wednesday morning and the family hope to reach Buzzard's Bay the evening of that day.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

New York, April 23.—One man was killed and two badly hurt in a big automobile crowded with passengers which crashed into a high billboard fence at Eighth avenue and seventy-eighth street Sunday. The streets were thronged with Easter promenaders at the time of the accident and police reserves had to be called out to keep the crowd in check. The chauffeur of the machine asserts that he was struck by an Eighth avenue trolley car, which skidded the machine along the tracks and that in this way he temporarily lost control of the brakes.

Charles Koester and Miss Finnerman were on the front seat of the automobile. They were engaged to be married, the ceremony being set for next week.

More than forty persons were on the heavy vehicle when the accident occurred and that more were not injured is regarded as remarkable. The automobile was one of half a hundred used in this city to convey visitors from out of town to points of interest about the city. Koester's skull was fractured and he died within a few minutes.

The injured were taken to Roosevelt hospital, where it is said they would recover.

Republican Nominees of State Convention.

Special to the Republican.

Harrisburg, April 26.—The Republican state convention met in the Lyceum theatre Wednesday morning and nominated unanimously the following ticket:

J. Lee Plummer of Hollidaysburg, state treasurer; Judge Charles E. Rice of Wilkesbarre, Judge George B. Orady of Huntingdon and Judge James A. Beaver of Bellefonte, superior court judge.

There was no opposition to any of these candidates and all were nominated by acclamation. Wesley R. Andrews of Meadville, secretary of the state committee, was promoted to state chairman, Mr. Andrews takes the place of United States Senator Penrose who retires after two years' service at the head of the committee.

JOHN H. MILLER.

A Native Centre Countian Dies at Tyrone.

The Tyrone Herald of Friday gives the following particulars of the death of a native of Centre County.

John H. Miller died at his home, 1001 Lincoln avenue, at fifteen minutes past 7 o'clock this morning. He was ill nine days and suffered from an affliction of the kidneys. In February last he was severely hurt by a fall on an icy pavement, since when he had suffered much from the injury then sustained, and which was doubtless the primary cause of his last illness. He was aged 61 years, 7 months and 26 days.

John H. Miller was the son of William and Leah Miller, and was born at Baileyville, Centre county, on August 25, 1843. On December 19, 1865, he was joined in matrimony with Nancy K. Leckie of Pine Grove Mills, by Rev. J. Leckie. To the union were born seven children, all of whom are living except one.

The Miller family from which the deceased was descended were of Scotch-Irish origin, coming to this country shortly after the Revolutionary war and settling in Chester county. James C. Miller, the paternal grandfather of John H. Miller, was born in 1787, and after growing to maturity removed to Mifflin county, and later to Centre county, where he died in 1867. He was a farmer a Democrat and a Presbyterian. William Miller, father of the subject of this sketch; was born at Milroy, Mifflin county, 1815, and died in 1872, he having resided successively in Mifflin, Centre and Huntingdon counties.

John H. Miller was reared in Centre county, received his education in the common schools and Pine Grove academy and engaged in merchant millage at Pine Grove Mills. In the year 1868 he removed to Mount Union, Huntingdon county, where he operated a steam mill for five years and engaged in merchantizing also until 1876, when he removed to Petersburg and engaged in milling, leaving there and locating in Tyrone in the year 1887. Here he engaged in the milling and mercantile business, but the past ten years his business had been exclusively that of a merchant miller and grain dealer, with office in Blair County National bank building.

Deceased was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Tyrone. He was a past grand of Tyrone lodge, I. O. O. F., treasurer of Tyrone encampment and a member of Canton Tyrone, of the same fraternity. He was also a member of Tyrone council, Royal Arcanum. He was a Democrat at politics and while residing in Huntingdon county took an active part in political affairs, serving in 1884 and 1885 as chairman of the Democratic county committee, and represented that party in State conventions. He also held places of trust and responsibility in the communities where he resided, being a member of the Tyrone school board at one time. He was an energetic business man, and a splendid citizen, a congenial gentleman, interested in the affairs of the community, devoted to his family and consistent in his profession. His demise is a distinct loss to the community.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon. Services at the late home of deceased at 2 o'clock by Rev. George T. Gunter. Interment at Tyrone cemetery.

Deer Lives in Harmony With Big Herd of Cows.

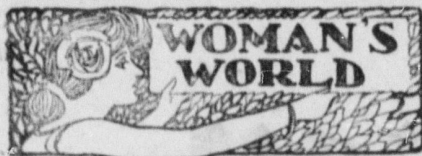

A doe has been living with a herd of cows near Watontown for over four months. It goes with the cows to pasture in the morning, returns with them in the evening and sleeps with them in the barn at night.

The deer put in an appearance at a farm on the night of January 3 last, having jumped a high fence to get inside of the barn yard. Knowing of the severity of the game laws, the owner of the farm attempted to drive the doe away. The animal fled to the nearby woods, but returned when the cows came in that afternoon from a stream, where they had been watered.

Several efforts were made to compel the doe to take to the tall timbers, but failed. The farmer has since cared for the timid animal, and it received its portion of hay and other food as do the cows.

Several days ago the doe became the mother of two fawns. The presence of the doe and the fawns have been reported to the state game commission. When the fawns are large enough an effort will be made to turn the fawns and their mother adrift.

mission. They sent no end of useful things to the field hospitals, and they also secured liberal donations to the great sanitary fair at Cincinnati.

It is said that since the organization of the Woman's Relief Corps Mrs. Winans has never missed a department or national convention.

Mrs. Winans is thus described: "A woman in the prime of life, who served her way up through the various offices of succession, from subordinate corps to the head of the department, and on committees of state and national importance, she is thoroughly versed in every phase of relief corps work. She is thorough, systematic, thoughtful and kind, and among all the grand women who have conducted department affairs none has administered them more wisely or well or wielded the gavel with a better grace. Modest, retiring and slow to speak, she is always ready for duty and equal to the occasion, whatever it may be."—Boston Traveler.

Taking the Initiative.

Are the new century women beginning to take the initiative in their intercourse with the opposite sex? Do they not ask men to do this and that instead of waiting until the men ask them, as was customary in the days of their mothers and grandmothers? "If we did we should have a long time to wait," laughed a pretty maiden whose invitation on the telephone to a young man to come up and take tea with her had been overheard by her grandmother and had prompted the foregoing remarks. "Why, men would never come near you unless you made appointments with them," she continued, defending her position. "I'm sure I would much rather have Ned Smith call me up on the telephone and ask if he might be allowed to come up and take a cup of tea with me this afternoon, but he wouldn't. He would never think of it. But if I ask him he likes to come. I know that. When he comes I shall inquire if he is going up the river to Carrie M.'s wedding on Saturday. Perhaps then he will ask me to go up in his automobile, but if he does not I shall say I think it is just lovely going up by auto, and then probably he will think of it.

"Do you know," she continued, "it is perfectly true what you said just now? When I come to think of it, girls do always take the initiative nowadays. The nice ones do it so nicely that you hardly see it, but they do it all the same, and the men just wait for them to suggest everything. Otherwise they would go off by themselves and not remember anything about us."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Centre County Census Directory.

Ask any business, professional or newspaper man or any banker who has had occasion to use it since its publication several years ago, by J. A. Feidler, and they will emphatically tell you that the Centre County Census Directory is the best and most useful publication of the kind ever compiled for Centre county. It contains the name of every man, woman and child in the county as gathered by the census enumerator at the time. Besides, it gives the ages of all males, the occupation of those employed and their post office address.

Each borough and township is arranged by itself with a correct prefatory history of each municipality and its formation.

Those who possess these directories would not part with their copy for five times what they paid for them. A very few copies are left which will be sent post paid to any address upon receipt of $3 to J. A. Feidler, Milesburg, Pa.

Mending an Oriental Rug.

A rare and very beautiful but ancient oriental rug came in course of time to display a hole about two inches square. The edges also for a space of two inches on either end were unpleasantly frayed and worn. It was a Bokhara of rich, dark reds, with some tan, grayish white and dark blue. At a house where antique rugs were sold and repaired I was asked $10 for mending it. Upon this I determined to do a little surgery myself. I cut off the frayed edges for a space of two inches on one end and an inch on the other and then, raveling a few threads of the wool, left a half inch of warp by way of a fringe, which is often seen in very old rugs. This gave me a quantity of material for patching, and, taking a square cut to fit the hole, I buttonholed the piece and the cut edge of the rug where it was to go with yarn, using gray, red, tan or blue, as the pattern demanded. I then fitted in the patch exactly and overhanded the edges with strong carpet thread. After dampening and pressing on the wrong side it required a sharp pair of eyes to detect the patched place.—Table Talk.

Good Looks.

In these days good looks tell. We no longer live in Maud Muller times, when the good looking woman may wear Ribbon Bodkin Convenient.

Every well groomed woman takes pleasure in running wash ribbons through her underwear. This ribbon should be purchased in several sizes, as it does not look pretty if used in a width too large for slipping easily through the beading. To avoid curling or turning the ribbon the shopper can buy a flat bodkin with fine teeth which catch the ribbon at either edge and run it flatly through the beading.

The Bread Slicer.

A kitchen convenience of merit is a bread slicer which cuts bread in slices of any desired thickness. This consists of a wooden frame exactly the size of an ordinary loaf. It is adjustable to fit a curved or a square loaf, and its sides are cut in slices of varying widths. The bread is slipped into the frame, and the bread knife cuts through the space desired. A bacon slicer on the same principle is offered.

To Extract Flower Essence.

Any little girl may make perfume in the following manner: Place a layer of the flowers in a clean earthen pot and over them a layer of fine salt. Repeat the process until the pot is filled, cover closely and place in the cellar. Forty days afterward strain the essence from the whole through a crape by pressure. Put the essence thus expressed in a clear bottle and expose for six weeks in the rays of the sun and evening dew to purify. One drop of this essence will communicate its odor to a pint of water.

"Cause, ma'am, I'd have to give up my trousers."—Little Chronicle.

Dreadful Attack of Whooping Cough

Mrs. Ellen Harrison of 300 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in our family doctor who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives." Refuse substitutes. For sale by C. M. Parrish.

—The early fruit crop is probably safe, according to the best information obtainable, and further danger to crops is removed by the prediction that the weather will remain cloudy and cool, although slightly higher temperatures will prevail. There is not so much concern manifested for the early cherries as there is for early peaches. It is believed that the latter have been slightly nipped, but until there is a day of bright sunshine, fruit growers say they will not be able to tell the extent of the damage. An experienced grower stated that the damage to peaches and plums will probably be considerable.

THE MAGIC BOTTLE.

A Trick That Will Teach a Little Lesson in Physics.

Here is a trick that will prove a puzzle to those who are not pretty well up in physics.

Take an ordinary dinner plate and fill it with water, then a small empty bottle, and assure the spectators that you are wizard enough to pour water through the solid bottom of the latter.

Pass the bottle around that all may see it perfectly empty and dry; then, having thrust a stick into it and held it to the fire until it is very hot—too hot to hold in the bare hands—stand it, mouth downward, in the plate of water. At the same time pour a tablespoonful of water on the upturned bottom, as if you were beginning to fill it in that way.

Each time you do this the bottle will be seen to retain more water, and as a corresponding amount will have disappeared from the plateful from which you are dipping it, it will easily appear as though the water had passed through the bottom of the bottle.

Of course the fact is that the water really rises from the plate with the contraction of the air as the bottle cools.

THE GIRAFFE.

Hard For It to Browse on the Ground, So It Lives High.

"You can always tell giraffe country at a glance," said Captain Manel, the big game hunter. "A place of low bushes or no bushes or trees at all is sure not to have any giraffes in it. Always look for low trees with abundant leafage before you look for the giraffes. No matter how fertile the ground may be or how full it may be of fine juicy grasses and other vegetation that would furnish abundant food for the giraffes, you won't be likely to find them unless there are trees. The reason for this is that it is very nearly as hard for a giraffe to browse on the ground as it would be for a man to stoop over without getting on hands and knees and pick something up from the ground with his mouth. There is no more awkward and painful sight than to see one of these beautiful beasts feeding from the ground. It straddles its immense forelegs out sideways till they look as if they were being stretched like india rubber. Then it slowly and clumsily lowers its body, jerking its forelegs spasmodically to keep its balance. That is why a giraffe is not eager to browse on low growing vegetation."

Novel Fishermen.

The boys who live near a body of water containing perch, bullheads or catfish can make large catches by means of simple devices.

An old jug, well stoppered, makes an excellent assistant. After emptying the jug and corking it securely take it to the place where you want to fish and, making a line fast, bait your hook and carefully lower the jug in the water.

A tempting worm on a hook below a jug is liable to result in a bite, and then the jug commences to bob about in an amazing manner. If the fish is large it may tow the jug around the water for awhile, but a heavy jug will soon tire out even a big fish, and then you can haul in the captive.

If jugs are not obtainable, large bottles are effective, although they do not offer the resistance the heavy jug does and, unless dark colored, are hard to see on the water.

GOVERNOR HARD AT IT!

Still Busy With Work of the Legislature

SIGNED AUTO BILL

Its Object is to Regulate the Speed of the Machine and Provides Fines for Violation.

HE ALSO SIGNED TWO OTHER BILLS

Harrisburg, Pa., April 20.—Governor Pennypacker Wednesday approved the Grim automobile bill and two other bills and vetoed nine bills, including that prohibiting the making of usurious loans. The Grim bill regulates the speed limit of automobiles to a mile in six minutes in cities and boroughs, and a mile in three minutes in the country, requires operators to take out a license, for which they shall pay $3 at the state highway department, requires the machine to carry a light in the front and the back; regulates the proceedings of action against offenders and prescribes a penalty of from $10 to $25 for the first offense, and from $25 to $100, and thirty days imprisonment for the second offense. The fines are to be used for the improvement of the public roads within the municipality in which violations of the act may be committed. The bill goes into effect January 1, 1906, and no person under 18 years of age may take out a license.

The other bills approved follow:
Providing for the annexation of boroughs or townships to a contiguous city upon the petition of five per cent of the voters.

Amending the act of April 28, 1899, relating to the classification of townships by permitting fine penalties to be increased from $10 to $50 for violation of township ordinances.

Among the bills vetoed were those granting pensions to Charles J. Taylor, late of B. Company, Tenth Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania; Charles H. Knox, of Philadelphia, late of Independent regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer cavalry; Edwin Hatch, of Erie county, father of Ryan Hatch, who died in the state military service during the riots of 1877. The governor says that if such pensions are granted it ought to be done by some general legislation.

He also vetoed bills relative to the settlement of a military claim due Edward Monahan, a Pennsylvania soldier; making an appropriation to Charles H. Knolly and appropriating $900 to Captain Alexander Wisbart for a claim against the commonwealth which started in 1861.

The government suggests that the proper way to secure this money is to bring suit against the state.
His objection to the bill relating to usurious loans is that it proposes to add to the system of jurisprudence another crime and makes a transaction founded upon a contract concerning money punishable by imprisonment for a year. The bill provides that any person making a loan at a greater rate of interest than six per cent a year and taking as security household furniture, sewing machines, musical instruments, plate or silverware in actual use, tools or implements of trade, wearing apparel, or jewelry shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

He also vetoed the following bills:
Amending the act of April 5, 1849, to prevent the opening of the streets or public roads through burial grounds and for the possession of cemeteries or grave yards. The authority which the bill proposes to give has already been granted by the act of 1881.

Empowering any taxpayer of a township, borough or school district upon providing for costs to appeal in behalf of such municipality to the courts of common pleas from the judgment of a justice of the peace or alderman against such municipality and to become a party to such suit. The governor disapproves the measure because it would lead to confusion of administration.

Forget About Your Stomach.
If your digestion is bad the vital organs of your body are not fed and nourished as they should be. They grow weak and invite disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, cures indigestion and all stomach troubles. You forget you have a stomach from the very day you begin taking it. This is because it gets a rest—recuperates and gradually grows so strong and healthy that it troubles you no more. E. J. L. Babcock, Amherst, Minn., says: "I have taken a great many remedies for indigestion but have found nothing equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure." Kodol digests what you eat, cures indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, belching, heartburn and all stomach troubles. Its preparation is the result of many years of research. LAST HOPE GONE!

Dillon and Green Must Hang—Pardon Board Will Not Interfere.

The last hope is gone and Ira Green and William Dillon must pay the penalty of their crime by death on the gallows May 9th. Their case was heard by the Pardon Board at Harrisburg Wednesday of last week. Hon. A. O. Furst represented the prisoners and Col. E. R. Chambers and District Attorney W. G. Runkle the Commonwealth.

The first argument was for an extension of time to May 25th for argument. As that failed the petition for a remission of the death penalty was heard.

The reasons filed for a commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment by Ira Green and William Dillon embodied practically the same reasons formulated when application for a new trial was made, also when the case was carried to the Supreme Court and with which the public are acquainted.

The case was argued before the Pardon Board Wednesday April 19. Judge Furst made a strong plea in behalf of the prisoners which lasted over an hour. Col. Edward R. Chambers made an equally strong reply. Wednesday evening Col. Chambers received a telegram that the Pardon Board positively refused the petition, which means that all hope is now gone and Green and Dillon will be hanged Tuesday, May 9th, in the Centre county jail.

"Hecla Sandwith."

In the New York Times Book Review of April 15, James Lane Allen has written an interesting article on American fiction. He has in mind one particular American novel by a new writer, Mr. Edward Ellington Valentines "Hecla Sandwith". In the article he refers to the novel in part as follows:

Having found his story, the question next arises: How did he see it? Deeply or superficially? Partially or completely? A careful reading of his book makes it plain that he took a broad and deep view of the elements—American and human—that entered into the greatness of his theme. One by one they are marshaled before us: The lonely, solemn mountains of Central Pennsylvania; the entrance into these of rude, strong pioneer folk, the sweep of the human tide across the continent; the charcoal burners, the iron-workers, the rugged, iron-framed, iron-willed type of ironmasters; the due place of the industry in our civilization; the clash of races and religions around the furnace; the struggles of national politics in the village near by—all the forces, all the elemental American values, that gave weight and a massiveness and a dignity to this theme are gathered together for the using.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Dwelling House Burned.

On Monday, April 17, about the noon hour, while the family of Wallace Walker, of near Smulton, were at the dinner table their house was discovered to be on fire and in a short time was entirely consumed.

A high wind was blowing at the time and the fire spread with such rapidity that but little of their household goods were saved. This is the second fire Mr. Walker has had within the year. Last July his barn was struck by lightning and entirely destroyed.

It is thought that a defective flue was the immediate cause of the fire.

The property was insured in the Annyville company.

Funeral of Mrs. J. W. Rightmire.

The funeral of Mrs. Joe W. Rightmire took place on Friday at 10:30 from her home on East Howard street. The services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Wood Jr., pastor of the Methodist church. The services were largely attended.

The casket bearers were John Morrison, William Clark, William Lyon, George Jodon, Collins Johnston, George Kneisel. Interment in the Union Cemetery.

A Communication.

With the knowledge I have of those two unfortunates, our fellowmen Dillon and Green, it is my humble opinion that they will be honored by the unspeakable privilege of being received into Heaven sooner than many of us who are spared to remain in this world a little longer. This is written by an old man who knows perhaps what he is about as Col. Pruner did when he left money for an orphan's home in Bellefonte.

—Although the special Easter services in the various churches were well attended, the efforts of some, at least, were not duly appreciated, as was evident by a few vacant pews. Of course, the attention of the congregation is necessarily attracted by the beautiful flowers and gorgeous costumes on such occasions, yet some good is obtained from the excellent sermons delivered from the pulpit.

Dr. Rhone's boyhood days were spent in Centre county. After his father's death, which occurred in Bellefonte, he with his mother and sister moved to California, and later on he located in Arizona, where he is practicing his profession, that of dentistry.

—The late snow recalls a snow of unusual depth that fell on the 29th of April, 1887. The evening before old Boreas made a descent from the north pole and by noon of the 29th twelve inches had fallen and sleds and sleighs were gliding over the frozen surface with a vengeance. The downfall of the beautiful is remembered more distinctly for the reason that a sledding party ventured from Birmingham to Warriorsburg and the snow that night disappeared almost as quickly as it came.

—Sam Hamm, colored, who murdered Herman Henderson at Altoona April 10, 1903, is said to have died on Sunday in the Emergency hospital, St. Louis. On the day of the murder Hamm and Henderson, with Chip Myers and perhaps others, were drinking a keg of beer in the woods in the Ninth ward, and Henderson and Hamm put on the boxing gloves. Henderson who was something of a boxer, got the better of his opponent and the latter felt angry about it. About noon Hamm put Henderson on Ninth avenue and twenty-fourth street and shot him in the body, killing him instantly. Hamm fled and despite the efforts of the police he was never captured. Hamm was aged about 20 years and besides his father, John Hamm, is survived by several brothers and sisters.

—The engagement of Miss Anna Keziah Ewing and Robert Goheen has just been announced to friends in Pittsburgh. Miss Ewing is the second daughter of the Rev. J. C. R. State College Horsemen Buy Stallion.

On Tuesday, April 18th, 1905, Mr. I. N. Smeck, representing the Hartman Stock Farm of Columbus, Ohio, sold to a number of leading farmers in College, Ferguson, Patton and Harris Townships, Centre County, associated together under the title of the State College Horse Company, the imported French Percheron Gray Stallion "Volteur." This stallion stands nearly seventeen hands high, is splendidly built for draft and farm purposes, and weighs about nineteen hundred pounds, and should be a valuable factor towards improving stock in this County. The Hartman Stock Farm has treated those composing the Company fairly and its guaranty of the stallion is ample and satisfactory and will no doubt be fully complied with on its part.

Mr. Smeck, their salesman, has been at State College for about two weeks and those dealing with him have always found him to be fair, honest, and a man of his word. He has treated the Horse Company and all those with whom he has come in contact honorably, and has made many friends in the county, who will be glad to hear of his future success and welcome him back whenever he may return.

Those composing the Horse Company, also mentioned, are as follows: F. H. Clemson, F. W. Krumrine, Adam Krumrine, A. F. Maikel, George B. Thompson, W. C. Meyer, B. D. Thomas, John H. Brown, E. W. Hise, Newton E. Hess, and Charles H. Foster. It is the company's present intention to exhibit their stallion at the Centre County Fair next fall.

Mrs. Patton is Chosen.

Washington, April 21.—The Pennsylvania delegation to the Daughters of the American Revolution congress elected its State officers this week and the result was one of the closest recorded in its history. Mrs. Henry Pennypacker, who has been acting as State agent ever since the retirement of Mrs. Wilbur F. Reeder last September, was defeated by three votes by Mrs. Alexander E. Patton, of Curwensville, Clearfield county. Mrs. Patton received thirty votes and Mrs. Pennypacker 27. Miss Minnie F. Mickle was unanimously elected vice State agent.

The Julia K. Hogg prize, for the best essay on American history, which is $50 was awarded by the committee to Miss Anna E. Clander, of Bethlehem, now a student at Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. Pennypacker reported that all the Pennsylvania Daughters had been invited to witness the launching of the cruiser Pennsylvania, a special committee will be appointed to participate in the unveiling of the bas relief of William Penn. presented last year to the cruiser by the State society.

New High School Law.

The legislature has passed an act which the governor has signed, permitting children residing in school districts in which no public high school is maintained, to attend a high school in some other district located near their homes and providing for the payment of cost of tuition and school books. According to the old law pupils were permitted to attend a high school in an adjoining district, provided the school directors of the district in which the high school was located, were willing to receive pupils from outlying districts and that such pupils either pay their own tuition or that they arrange with the directors of their own districts for such payment. According to the new law the payment is made obligatory on the school boards of the district in which no high school is located.

Constables as Fire Wardens.

On March 31 Governor Pennypacker approved a bill making all constables ex-officio fire wardens in their districts. In case of forest fires it will hereafter be the duty of constables to use every effort to quench forest fires and they can call upon citizens to assist and in a person called upon does not respond, the law provides that he shall be fined. Constables will be paid 15 cents per hour and assistants 12 cents per hour for this work. Constables must comply with this law under pain of prosecution for neglect of duty.

Chronic Bronchitis Cured.

"For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Mr. Joseph Coffman, of Montmorenci, Ind. "I tried all remedies available, but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Honey and Tar. It's effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Honey and Tar, and always with satisfaction." For sale by C. M. Parrish.

Pension Increased.

William T. Fowler, of Blanchard, a most deserving old soldier with a badly crippled hand, has had his pension increased from $6.00 to $12.00 per month through the agency of W. H. Rosser, of Mill Hall.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling how Swamp-Root, and all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured, in writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this ad.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Just commenced in the New York Family Story paper or the adventures of a Female Sherlock Holmes a realistic romance founded on fact by Fanny May. You who have been reading the daily papers can easily imagine how the thought came to the author's mind to write this story. Though purely a romance, many of its most sensational and dramatic scenes are based on fact. It is a startling exposure of a wicked man's wife. This realistic romance begins in No. 1644 of THE NEW YORK FAMILY STORY PAPER.

A Modern Bluebeard

CORRESPONDENCE

Unionville.

Easter day with us was bright and beautiful, and although it is the custom to eat eggs, yet we trust that every one who did so, thought not of that alone, and of trying to ascertain how many they could devour, but of the Christ Arisen, and all who are sad or downcast.

Take comfort, ye who have grieved through the year.

Take comfort, be glad for the Easter is here!

Remember its joys and its promises true.

The victory won by our Saviour for you!

O lift up your hearts and put sadness away.

The world should be glad on this bright Easter Day!

Easter services were held in the M. E. church by the Sabbath School in the morning, a lengthy program was rendered by the children. A scripture reading in concert by the primary pupils was well done, and inspiring to those who heard it. A solo by Clara Eckenroth, a very small child was very sweet indeed, her baby voice rang out above the sound of the instrument, every child did well and they made a beautiful picture in their bright costumes. The decorations were very choice and dainty, and the large bouquet of white lilies, and another of pink roses were superb, thanks to Maree Grist for these.

A missionary program was rendered by the Epworth League in the evening this was also good.

The Christian Endeavor meeting in the Presbyterian church was led by the pastor, Rev. Bergen, who did full justice to the excellent topic. A fine sermon followed this meeting, also by Mr. Bergen, an Easter sermon, his discourses are always inspiring and uplifting, and more people should avail themselves of the opportunity to listen to them.

Mr. Riley Pratt has been seriously ill with pneumonia for the past week, at this writing he is convalescent and we sincerely hope for a speedy recovery, we miss Mr. Pratt on the streets very much his son Howard, and son-in-law Mr. Black have been home to see their father.

Mr. G. W. Hazel is spending this week at Bellefonte as jurymen.

After a two months visit with his father Jos Bierly in our burg, and relatives at Martha.

The usual Sunday services were held at the Baptist church at this place on Easter Sunday by the Rev. Lathrop after which baptism was administered to five converts in the stream just below the railroad, it was also announced that there would be baptism in two weeks. There was quite a large attendance at the church, quite a number from a distance and faces were seen that seldom attend church.

The Port Matilda correspondent evidently didn't read his Bible very much or he would make a better stagger spelling the name of one of the Hebrew children.

Mr. Wilson Silver has treated himself and family to a fine two seated carriage which is just in style and certainly is a great convenience for church going and all suitable occasions.

Mr. William Gingery was a Sunday visitor at his brother-in-law's ex-sheriff Crumsters over Sunday.

The loss of the valuable horse by our mail carrier Mr. R. J. Williams was a great loss to him as he had just had him a few weeks and is just starting in the delivery business.

Some of our farmers are taking away their fences along the public roads, while others are building new ones so close up to the track that it will require a pilot to steer conveyances past them.

Julian

Woodward.

John Eby and wife from Beaverdale are visitors at the gentlemen's parents N. W. Eby's.

Rev. Sheeder, the Lutheran minister from Aaronburg was in town one day last week.

Quite a number of the young people were to the Narrows on Sunday for "Arbutots."

Dr. Ard and wife returned from Philadelphia, last week.

Mrs. Polly Snyder, an aged lady after a week of sickness, died at the home of her son N. W. Eby last Saturday forenoon. She was buried on Tuesday. Funeral conducted by Rev. Sheeder.

Prof Hummel, the Phenologist left town Monday morning.

Mrs. All Yearick is visiting her parents at Lanerlon.

Easter Monday.

In an article entitled "The Invested Life" last Sunday's Philadelphia Press alludes to Easter Monday as follows:

Back of the day is the man; Easter with all that it means of brightness and beauty and melody and newness is, after all, only the memorial of an invested life's victory over its adversary, even the last great enemy, Death.

Every Calvary has its Garden; every Good Friday its Easter Monday. Success always waits on sacrifice. It is the buried life that blossoms forth in resurrection power. The truth is not new, but it is needed anew. Only along the way of sparring self-denial does substantial and enduring achievement come. Do you desire any great end? Then suffer for it. The great prizes of life are not bought cheaply. Whatever of perennial Easter—apply the figure as you will—the world-to-day knows it has secured by way of a crucifixion.

Forget About Your Stomach.

If your digestion is bad the vital organs of your body are not fed and nourished as they should be. They grow weak and invite disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, cures indigestion and all stomach troubles. You forget you have a stomach from the very day you begin taking it. This is because it gives a rest—recuperates and gradually grows so strong and healthy that it troubles you no more. E. L. Babcock, Amherst, Minn., says: "I have taken a great many remedies for indigestion but have found nothing equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure? Kodol digests what you eat, cures indigestion, Dyspepsia Sour Stomach, Belching, Heartburn and All Stomach Troubles. Its preparation is the result of many years of research. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

"Itching hemorrhoids were the plague of my life. Was almost wild. Doan's Ointment cured me quickly and permanently, after doctors had failed." C. F. Cornwell, Valley Street, Saugerties, N. Y.

Committee Wants Correct Names of Centre County Soldiers.

In order to secure absolute accuracy in the names and spelling thereof on our soldiers' monument, we will publish from time to time the lists of certain companies so as to enable those who are interested to suggest changes in initials or spelling, and also to suggest the names of any persons who may have been omitted from the rolls. This is the last opportunity which will be given to our people and to the survivors or friends of deceased soldiers who served from Centre county to have these names corrected. The Committee, therefore, appeals very earnestly to all who are interested in the subject to carefully scan all the names to ascertain.

1st, whether any have been omitted; and 2nd, whether the names of those already contained in the rolls are properly spelled.

It is also very important that the names of soldiers who enlisted in organizations outside of the county or State should be secured, in order that they may find their place among the nation's defenders upon the monument. This is perhaps the most important thing which the Committee has in charge, the organizations from our own county being already well known. If, therefore, any person, in or out of the county, has knowledge of a citizen of Centre county who enlisted in organizations outside of the county and State, it is especially important that their names should be ascertained, so that they may find a place among those who enlisted at home.

Any communication in regard to these names addressed to Gen. John I. Curtin or William H. Musser, Bellefonte, will receive prompt attention.

SOUP SCIENCE.

The Dishes That Are Prepared With and Without Stock.

"Many people wonder," said an old fashioned housekeeper, "why we begin a heavy dinner with soup. It is because the stomach is tired and needs a mild stimulant before being taxed. We find in soup, especially in clear soup, a tonic rather than a nutrient. This is the reason clear soups are served for heavy dinners and purees and cream soups for luncheon. The cream soups and purees, with bread and butter, make a fairly nutritious meal. There are two kinds of soups—those with stock and those without. Stock is the extract from meats. Beef extract acts as a stimulant, bringing the digestive juice into play. In it we get only the flavor and the coloring of the beef, but no nutrient."

"A dog fed only on beef extract died of starvation. It is used in sickness as a conservator of energy, to keep up the vital forces until nature can repair the weakness. Bouillon is the clear soup made from beef extract, delicately seasoned. Brown soup is made from stock, which is two-thirds lean beef and one-third fat and bone. In the bone we find the gelatin and mineral matter."

"The best cut for stock is the mid-way cut of the shank, in which is found the round bone with the marrow. Brown soups are made of this stock clarified and seasoned with vegetables and herbs. White soups are made from stock of fish or chicken. Consomme is made from two or three meats and is clear. Mutton soup or broth is invaluable for invalids in convalescence, especially in fever cases, through its sustaining qualities."

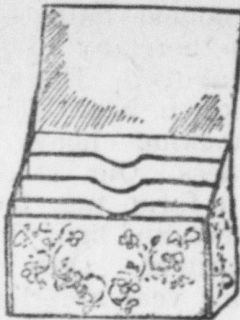

"The soups without stocks are the creams, bisque and puree. The last named is seasoned with vegetables or fish and pressed through the puree sieve, with tissues of the vegetables left in the soup. Bisque is made with shellfish or vegetables, with bits of the fish or dice of the vegetable left in."—Indianapolis News.

DESK SETS.

How a Girl May Make a Pretty One For Her Bedroom.

Pretty desk sets for bedroom use can be made at home. Every girl likes a pretty room, and with a very little effort on her part she can have one by taking pains to arrange it and choosing tastefully the things she puts in it.

This useful letter box, to hold stationery and old letters, is made out of cardboard covered with flowered cretonne. You first cut the pasteboard, which must be of a good thickness, in pieces the size you require for your box, then lay them on your material and cut pieces of that just a little larger than the board. A plain lining is used for the inside, and pieces of it must be cut the same as the flowered material.

The cardboard is held between a piece of the plain and a piece of the flowered material, and it is whipped closely all over the edge. When all the pieces have been done they are joined together, and the partitions, which are cut out of the colored cardboard exactly the size to fit inside of the box, are slipped in place.

The cover of the box is then made in the same way, a very pretty plan being to leave an oval opening in the material where you can slip in a photograph or picture.

To make a really pretty finish to the edges a narrow strip of fancy gold braid is sometimes used as trimming.

Laundering Fine Dollies.

Laundering fine linen dollies is attended with some difficulty, especially when the dollies are fringed. Combing out the fringe after ironing results disastrously in a very short time if the linen is really fine. A clever woman discovered this method, which, after all, may not be new. Great discoveries seldom are. After rinsing the dollies they are floated one by one in a dish of clean, cool water. When the fringes are perfectly smooth and flexible, slip a piece of manila paper or blotting paper under the dolly and lift the whole thing out of the water. Let the dolly dry on the paper, and the fringe will need very little combing.

NEEDS OF THE HAIR.

The Greatest Are Cleanliness, Ventilation and Friction.

The first and greatest needs of the hair are cleanliness, friction and ventilation. Give your hair a sun bath once in awhile, and the silky strands will fairly laugh with happiness. For some crazy reason there are many individuals who will not wash their heads often enough to keep the hair decently clean. We are not water animals and do not need to soak our topknots every day, but it is a pretty plain fact that once every week or two the hair should be carefully washed. If there is an inclination to dandruff or if the hair is subjected to an unusual amount of dust, a weekly shampoo is an absolute necessity.

By using eggs instead of soap there is no danger whatever of causing the hair to become harsh and brittle. Eggs are as cleansing as soap, and the sulphur contained in them acts as a tonic to the growth. When eggs are used the water should be very hot and the hair rubbed vigorously so that the eggs will make good live suds. No soap is necessary.

When the hair persistently suffers from loss of vitality it is usually from one or more of the following causes: Uncleanliness, lack of care, anxiety, worry, late hours, overstudy, want of exercise or disease. Dyspepsia is responsible for many thinned out halos. The hair, being the most delicate of the body's formation, is the first to show that the body is not receiving sufficient nourishment. The use of harmful restoratives or dyes will frequently cause the hair to become gray and broken. One cannot be too careful what one rubs into one's thought dome.

THE BABY'S EARS.

They Really Require Attention From the Moment of Birth.

The ears are quite as important little members to be cared for as the eyes, and when they stand out from the head they are anything but ornamental. From earliest infancy be careful to see that the ears are always kept back in place. When the child is lying on his side be sure that the ear is lying flat against the head, not folded over toward the face. Be careful that the child lies on one side as much as on the other. If he lies always on one side the ear on the opposite side is apt to stand out a little more than the one on which he lies. Nurses when putting children's caps on are often careless in not seeing that the ears are pressed flat against the head. Time and again when a baby's cap has been removed have I seen the little ears red and creased by being bound forward by the snug cap, and if baby has thick hair or curls which are gathered in a little mass behind the ear they, too, will prevent the ears from lying back close to the head, especially where there is the slightest tendency of the ears to stand out. The mother or nurse should be very careful of these little things, for if neglected until the child is a few months old it is not easy then to commence to remedy this defect. It must be looked after while the child is very young.—Mariana Wheeler in Harper's Bazar.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Granulated sugar makes a better marinade than powdered sugar.

Save rice water when you have boiled rice for curry, as it makes a very good foundation for stock or sauce.

In cooking tough fowls or meat one tablespoonful of vinegar in the water will save nearly two hours' boiling.

One cook always puts a crust of bread into the water in which greens are boiled. She says that the bread absorbs an objectionable rankness of flavor.

Nearly everything made with baking powder may be raised equally well with sour milk, buttermilk or soda, allowing one even teaspoonful of soda to each pint of milk.

Beefsteak is often improved by rubbing two teaspoonfuls of salad oil over it, then leaving it so for several hours between two plates. This is said to soften the meat fiber.

A Wonderful Knife.

The collection of a famous firm of cutlery in Sheffield, England, includes what is by some considered to be the most valuable knife in the world. It is large enough to fit in the pocket of none but a giant, and it contains seventy-five blades, which close up like those of an ordinary knife. Each of the larger blades is elaborately engraved, and among the subjects of these strange pictures are views of Sheffield college, the city of York, Windsor castle, Arundel castle and a score of other famous scenes. The hfts are of mother-of-pearl, carved with great skill. On one side the artist has depicted a stag hunt and on the other a boar hunt.

WOMAN'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, PROPRIETORS, BUFFALO, N. Y.

THE REASON.—There is no medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. It carries off the poisons which contaminate the life of the blood-making glands and gives the body an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh instead of flabby fat, promotes the appetite, feeds the nerves, and so gives to weak, nervous people vitality and vigor.

"About a year ago I had a very bad cough and feared it would run into consumption," writes Hon. Geo. W. Lynch, of 27 Mason Street, Worcester, Mass. "When a severe attack of coughing would come on vomiting would set in. Matter accumulated in nose and my tonsils were irritated. After reading of the wonderful cures resulting from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery began to use it, with some doubts as to the good it would do me. I am frank to say, but after I had used one bottle I noticed quite a change for the better. Ordered five more bottles and before I had used them all the cure was complete. There is not now a trace of cough or cold in my system and my health is perfect."

LITTLE GIRL IS A CLEVER SWINDLER

Child Victimized Other Children and Has Long List of Women Dupes

A CONFESSION MADE

She Tells Police of Her Methods After Being Confronted by Some of Her Victims.

WAS WORKING GAME WHEN CAUGHT

Chicago, April 21.—With her great appealing brown eyes filled with tears and her nicely manicured little hands clasped together in supplication for mercy, Lillian Rokosz, of No. 79 Cornelia street, dubbed "the child confidence queen of Chicago," was arrested by the police while in the company of a little girl whom the detectives said she was seeking to victimize with the skill of a born confidence worker. The child phenomenon in crime, who claims to be 14 years old, but looks nearer 11, broke down in the West Chicago avenue station and confessed to a chain of swindles extending over several months and including many women victims, swindled through girl dupes.

EXPLAINED HER METHODS.

"Sometimes I would tell them there was a new doll waiting for them at home," explained the girl in telling how she obtained money through school children. "Then I said their mothers wanted them to borrow money from their aunt. They would bring the money to me."

Lillian was met at North avenue and Bobbie street by Detective Sullivan and Larsen, who have been looking for her ever since complaints began to be made. She gave a frightened glance at the detectives, and leaving her girl companion, turned and fled. She was overtaken after a chase of two blocks. Despite her piteous plea to be released, she was taken to the office of Lieutenant Hartford. On the way she was silent, but at the station she denied the allegations in a storm of tears.

TOLD STORY RELUCTANTLY.

When confronted by a number of her victims who lived in the neighborhood, she confessed to several offences, gradually increasing the number as Captain Barcal and Lieutenant Hartford persuaded her by offering new evidence. Then she told her story with great reluctance.

"I always chose a little girl," said Lillian. "She would generally tell me her name when I spoke to her. Sometimes I would know her name beforehand. I would say that my name was the same, and that I was a relative. Then I would tell the little girl that her mother wanted me to go to an aunt and borrow some money to pay a bill."

WAS BADLY FRIGHTENED.

"Sometimes they would ask what aunt was meant and I would have to say I didn't know. Then she would generally ask if it wasn't Aunt Anne or Aunt Mary or give some name, and I would say that was the name. None of them seemed to be afraid of me and I generally talked to them about something that would interest them."

"I was pretty badly frightened a couple of times. The women at the place where we went would think something was wrong and come out to ask me questions. I always ran away, though, and they never got me."

Volunteer Firemen Interested.

One of the bills passed by the legislature of special interest to volunteer firemen throughout the state, provides for the payment of $12 to each volunteer fireman annually. The bill is now in the hands of the governor. The bill, as interpreted in this section, will, if signed, make the payment optional with the governing bodies of municipalities.

Hard Coal Found in Blair County.

Ten feet below the earth's surface a vein of anthracite coal has been discovered near Royer, Blair county. Some of the coal was taken out and burned, and found to be of excellent quality. The extent of the vein has not been ascertained. Much excitement has resulted among the farmers in that locality.

Industrial California.

California is one of the most remarkable and fascinating states on the map.

If California was set down on the Atlantic Coast and cut to fit, it would hide from view Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and all of Virginia east of the mountains. If just dropped down on the Atlantic coast its northern line would fall upon Maine, where it touches salt water farthest north, while its southern line would be cut off at Cape Hatteras. Or if Mt. Shasta, that great snow-capped peak of California, over-looked New York city, then San Diego, that wonderful city, on the southern boundary of California, would be near neighbor to St. Augustine, Florida.

Between the sea and the mountains in California the valleys are kept in a climate warmed by the sun, tempered by the Pacific stream and cooled by the snow caps of the Sierra Nevada range. This makes a climate twelve months in the year (three hundred and sixty five days) well nigh ideal.

California is an empire in itself, has a climate all its own and a productive-ness of soil that equals the best sections of the United States, the four great valleys—Sacramento, San Joaquin, Santa Clara and the Central Valley. These sections have only just been scratched and the productiveness of the soil is only just beginning to be known.

California is one of the greatest fruit sections in the world, and no other section of the United States can possibly compete with California oranges, lemons, raisins, asparagus, apricots, pears and the wines, for in point of quality these productions are peerless, more luxuriant in production and more delicious in flavor than those raised (except in hot houses) in any section of the United States.

But there are many other products. For example, English walnuts, prunes, olives and the white Smyrna fig, all of which hold the attention of commerce as the coming great contributor to domestic and foreign markets.

When California is spoken of every one considers the state as synonymous with delicious fruits and beautiful flowers. But the wise ones who look from the "tree top" are beginning to appreciate the value of California as the great producer of the common products, such as alfalfa, five crops a year, two tons to the acre. $15 the average price per ton. These are the facts that appeal to the husbandman. Fancy farming is productive of great profit, but plain, every day, old-fashioned farming in California brings the round returns in dollars and cents for every day labor and the expenditure of a limited capital. Ten acres of California land will produce in baled alfalfa $1,500 a year gross, at a cost of labor and interest on the investment of not to exceed $300, leaving a net profit of $1,200 to the man who is willing to appreciate the needs and demands of that section of the country.

There is in California an opportunity for every man in every walk of life, whether professional, commercial, mechanic, common laborer or farmer, and the great ranges which have hitherto been controlled by large capital interests are being divided now into forty and eighty acre tracts, upon which a man can pay as small a sum as $100 down, and long, easy terms to suit the balance. These are the things that will make men who are fighting the cold of the winter and the heat of the summer rejoice that there is a place for his family and his energies where he can win a competence and gain a foothold that will bring him not only a livelihood, but a comfortable life income.

One of the remarkable things about California to every person who lives in the East, is that in this state there is no desire on the part of either the man or his family to return to his original home in the East.

Why?

Because the heat of the summer and the severe cold of the winter in the East both retard the best efforts and sap the energies of the man and woman alike, and competition is not apparent in California as it is in the East, which makes a man more independent, and the mild winters and the comfortable summers give to every member of his family the best opportunity to make use of time and thought for hand and brain.

The most remarkable feature of California climate is its sameness, north and south. Heat and cold are a matter of altitude, not latitude. Oranges grow to perfection in Riverside; so do they in the upper Sacramento Valley, over five hundred miles north. In foothills, valleys and along the coast wild flowers (and cultivated flowers, too) bloom the length of California in midwinter.

Military Training.

The average American boy is splendid material, but in the rough he is conspicuous neither for order, system nor respect for authority. The military system supplies the most effective remedy for these defects—effective because the remedy is sugar-coated. What boy with red blood in his veins is there, who does not feel a thrill at the tap of the drum or the sound of the trumpet, who does not delight to handle a rifle, or if he is proof against these, who will not yield to the dashing interests of the mounted cavalry exercise? What other method is there that will so surely and quickly make the unpunctual boy on time to the dot, the untidy boy neat and trim, the bashful boy confident and assertive, the round-shouldered figure erect and full chested?

The boy who at home, unheeding the gentle maternal protests, varies his rising hour indefinitely breastward, at the military school springs from his bed at the first note of the reveille and dresses as though the house were on fire. The boy whose mother "picked up his things" for him at home, is now his own chambermaid; he makes his own bed, sweeps his floor, keeps his furniture innocent of dust, keeps everything in its place. The boy who was accustomed to argue indefinitely with paternal authority now obeys without question or delay the commands of the smallest and most youthful corporal.

The military method, however, to be effective must be real, there must be no sham about it. It must not be too diluted, too modified. The military schools that have succeeded best are those that have been the strictest, and have trained their cadets in their military work as earnestly and exactly as if the making of soldiers was the end in view, and not simply a means. The more nativeness and glitter of the uniform can appeal only to the unworthy traits. If it is to appeal to the best there is in a boy the uniform must stand for something more than a mere tickler of pride or fancy. The uniforms of the best military schools are eloquent of prompt and unquestioning obediences of system and order; of setting up exercise that square the shoulders and expand the chest, of drills with every detail accurately hammered out, of days of early rising and early to bed and wholesome living, and of many other things which must of necessity exercise on the cadet's after life an important and lasting influence—Scientific American.

The Engineering Magazine for May is marked by peculiar timeliness of interest. The opening article by Mr. A. W. Robinson, treats of the machinery available for the excavation of the Panama Canal, taking the several sections of the work separately and pointing out the types of apparatus and the methods of working most suitable to the conditions, and the difference between the results to be expected on the isthmus and those secured in generally similar work elsewhere. Another huge engineering undertaking, just completed, is described in the finely illustrated account of the Siphon Tunnel, by Mr. Leon Monette, with a third matter of much current interest is treated in the description (also handsomely illustrated) which Mr. E. W. Parker gives of the Government coal-testing station at St. Louis and the results of their examinations of a large number of American coals.

Mr. R. Mathot describes the suction gas producer, destined to increase largely the convenience and economy of small gas engine installations; the many engravings add much to the interest of his article. Mr. A. W. Henn explains in full, with fac-simile reproductions of the cards, books, etc., the store-room system of his company; Mr. R. M. Nelson discusses the increase of steam engine efficiency secured by the use of the condenser; Mr. H. S. Knowlton makes a very instructive analysis of central-station costs and revenues, and Mr. A. W. Buel describes the cost-keeping methods of various successful contractors on outside work, with exact copies of their forms, sheets, etc. The Review of the engineering Press and the Engineering Index are unusually full this month. —The Engineering Magazine, New York.

A Simple Remedy for Acquiring Hard Muscles and a Sound Body.

A number 12 bore gun when loaded with three drams of powder will send a load of shot further and shoot harder than if double this amount of powder is used.

If too much powder is used, all of it will not explode until it leaves the muzzle of the gun.

That portion which does not explode at the proper time, interferes with the direction, and checks the velocity or force of the shot.

Hard muscles and a strong body do not depend on the quantity of food, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation.

If the nutrient properties of all of the food that may be eaten are appropriated by the blood and tissues, the muscles of the body will grow harder and stronger, whether you eat much or little.

You may be well, but not strong. What you want is strength—physical force.

You do not have to be sick to need Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

Thousands of men and millions of women have need for just what Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will do for them.

A little Kodol after meals, will enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate every atom of all of the wholesome food that may be eaten.

It will do more.

It will enable the stomach to extract from the food all its nutrient properties, and contribute the same to the blood.

It will enable the blood to circulate freely and deposit a full quota of this tissue-building and strength-giving material into every nook, corner, muscle and fibre of your whole being.

The result is perfect strength. And perfect health.

Disease cannot lay hold on the man or woman whose physical condition is thus fortified. Recommended by Green's Pharmacy Co.

$5,000 for Canary.

The death some months ago of George Washington Todd, tramp and wanderer, revealed that he was worth $50,000, which relatives in this state and Canada are now fighting for. Some time before he died Maggie Mattee, of Oneondago Hill, sheltered him. While in her house he accidentally killed her canary, and immediately wrote her a note for $5,000. The woman kept it more for a joke than anything else, but when the existence of Todd's wealth became known presented it against his estate. Saturday Surrogate Benton upheld the note as valid. Other notes are held by people who befriended Todd.

Vin-Te-Na... Means Vim.

It is a medicine that actually feeds the weakened nerves by enriching and purifying the blood. Each ingredient is of the highest medical value. It cures more diseases than any other remedy on the market simply because it gets right down to the source of nine-tenths of all diseases, that is, the blood and nerves. When the blood is made pure and rich and the nerves are toned, diseases disappear as surely as shadows disappear when the light is turned on. If you are rheumatic; if you have stomach, liver or bowel trouble; if your nervous system is going to pieces, Vin-te-na will cure you because all these troubles are caused by bad blood.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—This is the first week of April Court and the town is full of visitors.

—Have you seen Philip Beezer's new delivery cart? Novel? Well I guess.

—Robinson's circus is booked to appear in Bellefonte in the near future. Small boys prepare to save your nickels.

—Mrs. Theodore Cherry, of North Thomas street, entertained a large party of lady friends at her home Thursday evening.

—Mrs. John C. Bair, wife of Letter Carrier Bair, who has been seriously ill at her home on East Bishop street, is slowly improving.

—When your appetite "hankers" after something deliciously good, remember our "estables" cure that hungry feeling. The Creamery Store.

—Mr. William Hart is seriously ill with inflammation of the brain at his home on East Bishop street. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

—Dr. J. Jones, the veterinary surgeon, moved his family from Watsonstown to Bellefonte last week. They occupy the Zimmerman property on East Lamb St.

—Out of a consignment of 25,000 young trout that were shipped from the State hatchery at Bellefonte to Allentown all but 1000 were found to be dead. Two weeks ago a shipment equally as large was received, and all but 800 were dead.

—Prof. D. O. Etters is making an active canvass for County Superintendent of Schools. Prof. Milford Fletcher, of Blanchard, is also a candidate. C. L. Gramley's friends are also pushing him for re-election. The election will be held on Tuesday, May 2nd, 1905.

—Circumstances in the present situation of our jail are very unusual, perhaps never known before in the history of Bellefonte. Five unfortunate men under the charge of murder and two of them under the sentence of death to be executed on Tuesday, May 9th.

—The Easter services at St. John's Reformed Church were well attended. The Holy Communion was celebrated at both of the services and was the largest in the present pastorate. The offerings from the congregation and the Sunday School for benevolence, including the self-denial envelopes, amounted to $123.

—Dr. G. G. Green, of Woodbury, New Jersey, will mail for a 2c stamp (simply for postage, one of his great novelties, a wooden box with glass top, containing six little colored balls. It necessitates remarkable quickness of the eye and hand to master it, but it is possible, with practice. Send for one and mention The Bellefonte Republican.

—We want to again call the attention of our readers to the organ recital and musical concert to be held in the Catholic church, this Thursday evening, April 27th, when Dr. Minor C. Baldwin, the noted concert organist, will make his first appearance in Bellefonte and music lovers can be assured of a genuine treat if they go to hear him. The price of admission is only 50 cents.

—Mrs. Cal Monroe, one of the best known colored women in the town, and at the same time one of its oldest residents died Saturday morning at her home in this place. She was a famous nurse in her day and a kind hearted christian woman. The funeral took place on Monday at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. E. Morris, officiating. Interment in the Union cemetery.

—James Bayard, one of the composers in this office, was taken to the Bellefonte hospital Thursday morning, suffering from a fractured jaw bone. He had the misfortune to fall about two weeks ago and sustained an injury to his jaw but did not think it serious until Thursday morning when Dr. Locke made an examination and discovered that the jaw bone was cracked. The friends of Mr. Bayard will be sorry to learn of his bad luck.

—Passover, the great Jewish feast, which commemorates the delivery of Israel from bondage in Egypt, began Wednesday at twilight and continued until the same hour next evening. Upon the housewives fall the burden of the many preparations for this feast. No utensil, crockery or glassware which has ever been used for any food in which there is leaven can be employed. All must be new and absolutely clean. Every family must have from 10 to 50 pounds of matzoth, or the bread baked without leaven, in commemoration of the bread baked in the heat of the sun in the time of the Exodus. This must be baked in accordance with the rabbinical law.

—Columbia soups, Tomato ketchup and baked beans, are just the correct thing at SECHLER & CO.

—Mrs. Ed. Swiler, of Beaver street, who has been threatened with appendicitis, is getting along very nicely now and unless further complications follow will speedily recover.

—A boiler inspector from Harrisburg inspected the boilers at the shirt factory Thursday morning, in consequence of which the fifty or more girls working there had a few hours vacation.

—Mrs. Evelyn Roger has just returned from Washington, D. C., where she attended the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution and cast her ballot to elect Mrs. Donald McLeon President General of the National society D. A. R.

—The Senior Class exercises at the High School Thursday were well attended. After the regular exercise a tree was planted by the class and a very appropriate program rendered. The tree, a beautiful specimen of the Norway Maple, was dedicated to Miss Levy.

—At a special meeting of the Senior Class at the High School Monday, Rev. John A. Wood, Jr., was chosen to preach the baccalaureate sermon for their class Sunday evening, May 28, Rev. Wood will also preach the memorial sermon for Gregg Post in the morning of the same day.

—Judge Orvis gave notice Monday that a habeas corpus hearing would be given Charles and Howard Stewart and Winfield Gregg of Rush township Tuesday of next week. They are charged with the killing of Michael McHugh, whose dead body was found in Moshannon Creek about two weeks ago.

—The Academy library has received two valuable contributions of late. Mrs. Catherine Dinges presented a set of "University of Literature" and Judge Ellis L. Orvis has given a set of fine reference books of United States History. Both gifts are greatly appreciated by the Academy and students.

—Edward Carbaugh, thirty five years old, of Newton Hamilton, was fatally injured near Lewistown by stumbling in an open culvert along the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was found lying at the bottom of a ditch in an unconscious condition with nothing but his head above water. His jaw was broken, scalp lacerated and tongue almost bitten off.

—Catherine Allison, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allison, met with quite a painful accident, Wednesday of last week. She had not been very well during the day and in the afternoon, with some other children had gone out driving in Chambers' pony cart. When on East Curtin street Catherine, who was sitting in the rear, suddenly grew dizzy and fell from the cart, sustaining a broken collar bone. It was several minutes before she was missed and when found she was tenderly taken up and conveyed home. While quite a painful mishap the injury is not of a very serious nature.

—Frank Cochran, aged 21 years, of Williamsport, was bumped from a freight train at Mapleton on Tuesday night, receiving serious injuries. Cochran came to Mapleton from Williamsport Saturday last and secured employment as a brakeman on the railroad at the Pittsburgh White Sand company's works at Mapleton. While shifting cars to a siding from the works he was bumped from the train and thrown under the cars. Several cars passed over his body, crushing the left leg just below the knee and the right foot below the ankle. He was also seriously injured about the back.

—Samuel K. Faust died Thursday morning April 13th at the home of Robert O. Diehl, near Rebersburg, of diseases incident to old age. Mr. Faust was at one time one of the leading business men of Miles township. For years he was engaged in the carriage manufacturing business at Spring Bank and took an active interest in public affairs. His wife dying several years ago left him without any family ties, (his children all being dead,) he disposed of the business and moved to Smulton, where he lived several years. He but recently made his home with Mr. Diehl. His aged was 71 years. Funeral services were held Saturday morning conducted by Rev. Haas and interment was made in the Evangelical cemetery at Rebersburg.

—Daniel Strayer, of Allegheny Furnace, for general cussedness, seems to be the limit. He has just been arrested on four charges. First he is charged with committing an assault upon Celia Yingling and daughter Margaret Yingling, with a shot gun; by pointing the gun at the woman with the intention of doing bodily harm. In default of $300 bail he was committed to jail. Second, malicious mischief, deserting his family and home. In default of $100 bail he was committed to jail. Third, with threatening to kill his wife and burn his home. On this charge he was committed to jail in default of $150. Fourth, with disorderly conduct on the public highway. On this he was committed in default of $150 bail. At the hearing ten witnesses testified that Strayer is an all around bad man and dangerous character, who keeps his family and neighbors in a constant fear and that they are afraid to go out of their houses for fear he will do them bodily harm.

—The Volunteer Organist Company in the Opera House Tuesday evening was greeted by a small crowd although it was one of the best plays in Bellefonte this season.

—All those who have subscribed to the Academy improvement fund are hereby requested to send in their checks at once. All checks to be marked Academy Improvement Fund.

—Messrs. Thap—Gilbody the owners of the merry-go-round are doing a fair business so far and will be with us for two weeks so let everybody turn out and patronize.

—Mr. Fearon Eckley, of Valley View, and Miss Mary A. Switzer, of Coleville, were married Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at the United Brethren parsonage, by Rev. A. Davidson.

—About 11 o'clock Wednesday morning the fire alarm sounded and the fire companies hastened to Green's Drug store to extinguish the flames accidentally ignited in the cellar of that establishment. The damages were slight.

—Miss Mabel Stover, daughter of Howard Stover of East Lamb St. fell on her way home from school Tuesday and received a slight concussion of the brain, it is to be hoped that she will soon be able to be around again.

—The Bellefonte Academy resumed work Wednesday after a recess of one week for Easter vacation. The last term will undoubtedly be a most pleasant one in anticipation of the delightful centennial celebration which takes place on Thursday and Friday, June 15 and 16.

—Mr. George Gross an aged resident of Bellefonte died after a lingering illness Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock. He is survived by his wife, two sons, John and Edward both of Bellefonte. The funeral will take place from his late home Friday morning, the remains will be taken to Chambersburg where interment will be made.

—The concert in the Court House Tuesday evening by the Ladies Auxiliary for the benefit of the Bellefonte Hospital was a great success; the sum of $120 being realized for that institution after all expenses had been deducted. The house was crowded to the doors. Too much praise cannot be given the performers who all acquitted themselves nobly which was attested to by the repeated applause of the large audience present.

"Hail To Thee, O Fair Carnegie!"

Reviewing the opening of spring sports among the colleges for April 22 comments on the new lake to be given to Princeton University by Andrew Carnegie Collier's says:

In college sport on this side of the water, Princeton's new artificial lake is the most interesting possibility. The lake means, of course, that Princeton will have a crew next year, and the addition of an entirely new quantity to the races at Poughkeepsie or New London stir up no end of enlivening fancies. The lake is the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who, finding libraries but a slow means of carrying off his income, is hoping to accelerate the speed of its departure by turning it into the more fluid form of water. The Princeton under-graduates are not bothered with the qualms felt by the Boston ministers in contemplating the gifts of Mr. Rockefeller, nor do they, apparently, share the anguish which has tortured some sensitive souls that the thrifty steel king's methods of preparing his penniless entry into heaven should be extended even to the hallowed ground of an ancient university. A lake is a lake, apparently, its genesis will soon be forgotten, and in our mind's eye we see future generations of sons of old Nassau sitting on the moonlight, dissolved in sentiment, and singing to a banjo accompaniment some such words as—

"Hail to thee, O Fair Carnegie!"

Hail, thou sunlit inland sea!
Alma Mater's ancient waters;
Hail Carnegie! Hail to thee!"

When completed, the lake will have cost Mr. Carnegie back about one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars.

EASTER BALL.

Undine Fire Company Scores a Great Success.

The annual Easter ball of the Undine Fire Company was held in the Armory on Monday evening and proved one of the most delightful affairs of the kind ever held in Bellefonte. There was a large attendance of ladies and gentlemen and all enjoyed themselves immensely. Previous to the dance specialties were introduced. Henry Brown sang several solos in his usual excellent style and was heartily encored. William Doll's ludicrous German impersonations were received with shouts of laughter and John McSulley made a hit with his burnt cork specialties.

This introductory put every one in a good humor and they were ready for the splendid dancing which followed. Christy Smith's famous orchestra never played better or sweeter music than on this occasion and the young people of our town tripped the light fantastic until the wee' sma' hours.

Light refreshments were served, the caterer being William Doll. Altogether it was a very pleasant event and will be long remembered by those who were in attendance.

The committee of arrangements was composed as follows: Charles Anderson, Harry Vallance, Frank Doll, James Lowry and Thomas Smith.

Distinguished Visitor in Bellefonte.

Prof. James Bright, a linguist of great ability and Professor of Languages at Johns Hopkins University, was in town Friday visiting his cousin, Mrs. Williams of Spring St. Saturday he spent with his brother, Dr. John Bright at Rebersburg.

Mr. Bright was born at Aaronsburg fifty eight years ago and was, and is yet acquainted with many of Bellefonte's most honored citizens. After trying several vocations he concluded he would become a minister, with this end in view he studied for several years at Lafayette College, but after completing his course he followed his favorite line of study—that of the languages.

For twenty years he has been connected with the Johns Hopkins University. He has made various voyages to Europe, England specially, and moved over the volumes in the library at Cambridge and other famous institutions. Those who know him admire him most for his love of truth and honor, which qualities he has exemplified in his own life.

We have taken advantage of Mr. Bright's brief presence in town to say this much of him, for he is undoubtedly one of Centre County's most honored sons and perhaps few persons were aware of the fact. Perhaps those who know the standing of Johns Hopkins University can appreciate the genius for the gentleman.

New Catholic Convent to be Erected.

The Catholic Sisters of the Sacred Heart of this place have moved their residence to temporary quarters on the second floor of the Brockenhoff building on West Bishop street. The object in moving is in order to give the workmen a chance to begin the new Catholic convent at this place which is to stand on the site of the old Catholic parsonage.

The plans for the new convent of the Sacred Heart have been drawn up by Architect Robert Cole. The present frame house will be torn down and in its place a handsome new building will be erected. The front will be of sandstone the same material as the church and Priest's residence. The sides and rear will be of Mill Hall pressed brick. The building will be connected on the East side with the old church which will continue to be used as the parochial school.
